FAST TROTTERS AND PACERS AT THE DECATUR RACE TRACK.

A Good Crowd Out Wednesday—Four Good Races—The Fastest Horse Falls to Start—Pilot Gift Badly Beaten—Summary and Notes.

There was a large crowd at the race track yesterday, and they saw enough good racing to satisfy any mortal for one day. It is now certain that the meeting will be a success in every particular, and the men who have it in charge were a smile yesterday that would make a night blooming cereus look like a last year's weed blossom. The officers and starter who had things in charge yesterday were the same as those of the day before, with an exception as to one of the judges. George B. Rogers, of Decatur, took the place of Mr. Kenney as judge, the latter being disqualified to act, owing to the fact that he had a horse in one of the races.

The attendance yesterday should be put between 4,000 and 5,000. One noticeable thing about it was that nearly everybody who was present Tuesday could be found in the grand stand yesterday or on the quarter stretch. Most people know a good thing when they see it, and when a Decatur man goes out to the races for a day, you can depend on it that he is caught for the remaining days of the meeting.

If you have a near friend dead, don't go out to the races; for if you do the burial will have to be postponed until next Saturday or it will have to go on without you. It was announced from the judges stand that the races to-day will be called promptly at 1 o'clock. This is because there is a long program for to-day; and two of the races may run into five or six heats. There will be an enormous crowd in attendance to-day, and you had better go early to get yourself comfortably located.

THE 2:24 TROT.
The above race was the first on the program yesterday. It was the unfinished race from Tuesday. The race excited a great deal of attention all morning at the grounds. The query was, could Marilla come in and win the race by taking two straight heats after her overnight. The first heat yesterday, the fifth of the race, showed that she was in it only for a place. The finish was a close one between Bassenger Boy and Billy McGregor. Seven heats were trotted and after all the long and hard race was won by one horse because his competitor made a break at a critical moment. Following is a summary of the heats that were trotted yesterday.

First Heat.—The horses were sent off at the fourth attempt. The pace was a clipping one right from the start. Billy McGregor had the pole and Bassenger Boy at once began to fight for the heat. At the end of the half McGregor was still in the lead. Now Marilla began to pull out and do something. She soon found that the pace was too much for her. Bassenger Boy kept up his awful lick and at the stretch was on even terms with McGregor. McGregor broke down the stretch and fell back to third place, Bassenger Boy winning the heat.

Sixth Heat.—According to the rules the horses that did not take a heat in the first five were sent to the stables. This left only four horses in the race. Bassenger Boy took the lead at the start and McGregor at once began to fight him. It was a struggle between these two horses right to the close of the heat. At no time were they more than 10 feet apart. It looked as if McGregor could win when the horses were coming down the stretch, but he broke in a bad place and Bassenger Boy came under the wire, winning by four feet.

Seventh Heat.—The horses were sent off in a splendid fashion. Bassenger Boy took a slight lead at the start, but McGregor at once served notice that the thing would be fought to the end of the mile. These two horses went around the track together and it was the race of either one when they entered the stretch. Here Bassenger Boy made a break that cost him the heat and race.

FOALS 1890—TROT.
Only three horses came to the scratch when this race was called, but they were three good ones: May King, Brandyline and Orinoco. Each of these horses represented a different family and they were sent over the course by three drivers as skillful as could be found on the grounds. Following are the heats and summary.
First Heat.—The three horses were sent away after six attempts. May King had plenty of speed but wanted to break. Brandyline took the pole in 400 yards. May King fought hard for first place from this to the third quarter when he broke. Brandyline had a clear lead coming into the stretch, but here broke badly and seemed to be unable to catch his feet again. This allowed May King to take first place in the heat. May King had five breaks in the mile but they were the kind that lost ground, and so the judges would not set him back.
Second Heat.—The horses got off at the first attempt. May King started out to do good work, and kept it up until the stretch was reached the first time around. Here he broke and Brandyline who had been just behind him all the way around went to the front. May King fought hard to regain his lead from this to the finish, but he could break just when within reach of victory. Brandyline's first under the wire, but the result of the heat wasn't settled until within 100 yards of the finish. The driver of Brandyline was reminded by the judges to be more cautious about foul driving.
Third Heat.—When the horses started May King showed a great deal of misadventure. This was kept up nearly throughout the first half. May King passed Brandyline at the half mile but was headed again on account of breaks. Coming down the stretch May King got in his best work and passed Brandyline, coming under the wire a half length ahead. May King was put back to second place for repeated breaks; and thus the heat went to Brandyline.
Fourth Heat.—Brandyline took the lead and May King began his old effort to take it away by hard work. May King passed to the front just as the half was reached. From this out he held with his good work and came in an easy winner. Brandyline got tired and let Orinoco come in second.
Fifth Heat.—May King had the pole, Brandyline on the outside. It was soon made a race between these two, Orinoco falling in the rear. The horses trotted without a break and May King won the heat and race, never being headed.

Summary:
May King, Electioner, 1 2 2 1 1
Brandyline, Brown Wilkes, 2 1 1 3 3
Orinoco, Simmons, 3 3 3 2 3
Time—2:30, 2:33 1/4, 2:36 1/4, 2:35, 2:30, 2:40 TROT.
Seven horses answered the call for this race. The time made was good for the class. It was soon seen that Ingot had by all odds the best of it. There was entirely too much running in the race in the first heat, but it did not take long to send the bang tails to the barn. The last two heats made a race that was pretty to look at. The heats and summary:
First Heat.—The horses got a good start and then the race became a go-slow race. About half the horses were running half the time on the first round. Ingot got the lead at the head of the stretch, and held it under the wire. Several horses in the rear were running to avoid a shut-out.
Second Heat.—Ingot led from the start, and was never in a dangerous position. He led on the back stretch the second time around by 50 yards, and took things easy from there home. Again some horses ran in order to be in it. Etta B. did some pacing in order to save herself. But it was no go; Osella, Etta B. and Nellie W. were distanced.
Third Heat.—At the start Peek-a-Boo tried to give Ingot a race. He got sorry of his resolution before the first quarter was reached, and then Kyslick came up but fared no better. Ingot came under the wire a handsome winner. The last heat was the best of the race as the runners were in the barn.
Summary:
Ingot, Nugget, 1 1 1 1
Frank Kyslick, 2 2 2
Peek-a-Boo, Blue Boy, 3 3 3

Time—2:30 1/4, 2:32 1/4, 2:34 1/4, 2:34 TROT.
The fastest horse on earth, Grant's Abdallah, did not show up when this race was called. The horse is entered "for some richer purses and stakes in the East, and he didn't want the mark that it would be necessary for him to take in order to win this race. He would have had to go in 2:19 or better to win the race; and $250 was no temptation to take such a mark.
Pilot Gift was the favorite in the betting stands before the race, but he never showed at the front in the homestretch. The horse is a good one and has great speed, but he can't behave himself as well as the spoiled pet of the family while in the preserve department of the panny. He never scored up with the other horses and wouldn't begin to pace until Barney was within sight of the flag. There was great interest in the race until the close, for everybody was waiting for the name of the horse to be called the other horses. The race between him and Barney would have been a splendid one had Pilot Gift tried to do his best. Some of our boys dropped considerable money in the pools. It will never do to play a horse that thinks it is funny to be gay. The heats and summary:
First Heat.—Pilot Gift had the pole and six attempts were made to give him a fair start. The horse behaved badly, and at last the starter had to send them away with the pole horse in the rear. Barney soon got the lead and held it to the finish of the heat. Pilot Gift got to pacing in style about 100 yards from the start, and it looked as if he would overtake the others before the half was finished. However he broke badly on the back stretch where he lost twice as much as at the start. He showed at any rate, that he had more speed than the others.
Second Heat.—The horses got a way again with Pilot Gift in the rear. Barney went to the front and held the place to the quarter flag. There he broke and was passed by Saboya. On the first time down the stretch Pilot Gift showed that he wanted the lead, but lost it through a bad break. Saboya went to the front for a while and then Barney made a second effort for the heat. He captured the lead just before coming into the stretch and held it under the wire, Saboya making an unsuccessful fight against Pilot Gift for second place. Pilot Gift was set back to last place for crowding Barney to the fence. Grey Billy was distanced. The judges announced they would put a new driver behind William E. as they were not satisfied that horse had been sent for all there was in him. They also determined to put a new man behind Pilot Gift because the old one was hard of hearing.
Third Heat.—The horses scored five times without getting off. The starter announced he would send them at the next trial; and he did so with Pilot away back, and not even pacing. Barney took the lead and held it to the finish. William E. finished in a run, Pilot third. William E. really came in about 250 yards behind, but the judges did not distance him "under the circumstances." They probably discovered that the first driver was doing pretty well with the horse.
Summary:
Barney, Barney Wilkes, 1 1 1
Saboya, Nugget, 2 2 2
William E. Allen, 3 3 4

NOTES.
Five Singleton fed 24 people at the track on the first day.
The original package office was closed by order of John Ulrich early last afternoon.
The men who had charge of the horses of H. S. Stephenson, of Emporia, Kan., have a dining tent of their own on the grounds.
The mare, Marilla, that made such a good race in the 2:24 trot is with foal. The Decatur race is her last one, at least for this season.
Kazar Brothers are doing the horseshoeing at the race track. During a part of the day they are kept as busy as the horses on the track.
The pool boxes are not doing a very great business. The wheel of fortune that stands only a few feet away, catches more than its share of the crowd.
The Association has put up a large cooling shed on the grounds. This allows the horses to be walked in the shade while they are drying between heats.
A wallet was found on the grounds last evening. It contains two postal cards addressed to J. J. Gregg, Brushy Fork, Ill. It is in the hands of Secretary B. Z. Taylor.
The stable boys don't spend much time in learning the name of the place in which they are temporarily stationed. Nine out of ten of them speak of Springfield as "that other town."
Jerry Coleman, owner and driver of Pilot Gift, is quite a versatile genius. He is a millwright, an engineer, a carpenter, and a good jockey. The sulky in which he rides is his own manufacture. This is his first year on the track, and yet he asks no odds of the most ancient "pioneer."

The street cars make the run from Lincoln Square to the race track in about 15 minutes. During the forenoon a car leaves the track for town every 20 minutes. In the afternoon cars are run every three or four minutes. The capacity of the line was tested yesterday, and it is pretty sure to be strained to-day.
The people should know that they have now the best bunch of race horses that ever was here, or that may come for many a day. The horses that are going through this circuit are good ones, and we have the best of them. An old timer remarked at the grounds yesterday that this is the hardest circuit he ever got into, and he hopes that Decatur will be the hardest point in the circuit. He says, "at the place that is being set a man must have a half-dozen blue ribbon horses in order to carry some money away."
The driver for the Prospect Hill farm, Cope Stinson, always carries a watch in his hand while working one of his horses or driving in a race. He takes a glance at the watch at the end of each quarter, and so always knows just the speed at which he is going. He knows what his horse can safely do and also the speed at which he must make each quarter in order to do the best mile there is in him. When some brasher makes a faster quarter necessary Mr. Stinson drops behind for a few moments.
Many of the jockeys at the grounds have a great contempt for records that were made in Kansas, and especially for those that have been made at Emporia. They insist that you can take a mile at Kansas City that you can't take at Emporia, and at once prevail the average judge there to give you a horse any mark you prefer. Whenever some stable boy goes the rounds of the stalls with a great story of what his horse can do and offers to furnish documentary evidence, the stout goes up: "Here is another duffer from Emporia." The records from that town are considered the best evidence of what a horse would like to do but can't.

Notice of Dissolution.
The partnership heretofore existing between W. A. Parlier & J. E. Segrest, of the firm of Parlier & Segrest, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by W. A. Parlier and F. L. Warren, of the firm of Parlier & Warren, who are authorized to settle the accounts of the late firm.

Progress.
It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, agreeable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

An Invaluable Traveling Companion.
No person should travel without a box of Hambug Figs in his pocket, for they will be found invaluable when change of food and water has brought on an attack of constipation, indigestion, or torpidity of the liver. 25 cents. Dose one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

They insist that you can take a mile at Kansas City that you can't take at Emporia, and at once prevail the average judge there to give you a horse any mark you prefer. Whenever some stable boy goes the rounds of the stalls with a great story of what his horse can do and offers to furnish documentary evidence, the stout goes up: "Here is another duffer from Emporia." The records from that town are considered the best evidence of what a horse would like to do but can't.

Notice of Dissolution.
The partnership heretofore existing between W. A. Parlier & J. E. Segrest, of the firm of Parlier & Segrest, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by W. A. Parlier and F. L. Warren, of the firm of Parlier & Warren, who are authorized to settle the accounts of the late firm.
W. A. PARLIER,
J. E. SEGREST.
Progress.
It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, agreeable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

An Invaluable Traveling Companion.
No person should travel without a box of Hambug Figs in his pocket, for they will be found invaluable when change of food and water has brought on an attack of constipation, indigestion, or torpidity of the liver. 25 cents. Dose one fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.
Special.
Take meals and board at Combs' restaurant. Best appointed place in the city. Everything first-class. Opposite Grand Opera House, 129 South Water street.

S. JACOBS OIL
Cures Backache, Backache, Backache.
Martinez, Cal., October 2, 1888.
I could hardly walk or lie down from backache; suffered several weeks. S. Jacobs Oil permanently cured me, after numerous other remedies had failed to do so.
S. JACOBS OIL, Feb. 8, 1887.
From a bad cold pains settled in my back and I suffered greatly; continued to bed and could hardly move or turn. I tried S. Jacobs Oil, which cured me. I do not regret recommending it.

THE CHASTITY DISCOVERY
Or Wabash Switchman Bowman Last Night.

Walking in the Wabash yards near the old coal shaft about 9:30 last night, the lantern in one hand and the switching list of second 99 in the other hand, Frank Bowman, foreman of the night switching crew of engine 20, kicked something with his foot, and it rolled clumsily to one side.
Glancing down casually Bowman saw in the flickering light a man's head on the ground, and that was what he had kicked.
It was some little distance from the rails, near, however, to the switching engine. The switchman found two arms, both terribly mangled, and entirely separated from the trunk, which lay under the cars between the rails.

Calling assistance, a grain door was procured and the mangled body was put upon that, where it lay on the ground, while Coroner Bendure was sent for. Wonder-ingly the railroad men went up and looked at the face, which was uninjured, and asked what it was. No one seemed to know, and didn't even know how the unfortunate man whose life had evidently been shut off instantly had met his death. No one had heard a cry, no one had seen a stranger about the yards recently. One conductor did come along and say that on his way in to Decatur early in the evening he had seen a tramp under his train, while at a station a few miles out, and had ordered him to get out from under the cars, but didn't remember whether his order had been obeyed.

Second 99, the train under which the body was found, had just pulled in, and Frank Bowman was going down with his engine to switch it, when he made his ghastly discovery. The opinion was advanced by the men that the fellow had been under the train on the brake beam had got caught while trying to get out, or that he had attempted to get over the bumpers, the cars had been jerked in stopping, and he had fallen with his neck on the rail.

When Coroner Bendure arrived he searched the man's pockets. Not a thing was found in them but an empty tobacco box and a shoe button. There was nothing about him to disclose his identity. He was of medium height, wore the clothes of a day laborer or tramp, and had a sallow hat.
His eyes were light blue and his hair a very light brown, almost an auburn. It was discovered later that one of his legs was crooked, even before the accident.

The body was taken to J. B. Bullard's undertaking rooms and there washed and dressed. While that was going on several people went in and looked at it. Among them was a gentleman from Sullivan who is here attending the races. He at once said he recognized the body as that of Bob Lee, of Sullivan, who was called "Jassies" Lee by his acquaintances. The gentleman could not say positively that it was Lee, but he was very sure it was. The hair, eyes and general build was like Lee, even to the game leg. The only point of difference was that Lee was noted for a very freckled face, while there appeared to be no freckles on this face. That might have been accounted for, however, by the fact that this man's face was badly skinned.
Lee was a kind of a roustabout at Sullivan, who did any odd job he could get his hands on. He was at one time employed at the Eden house.

Coroner Bendure will hold an inquest early this morning.

A Queer Memory.
A somewhat singular suit was dismissed in Justice Haumer's court yesterday.
William H. Rae had sued Charles Erwin for $100. Both live in the north part of the city and have been friends for years. They were comrades in the army. Some time ago Rae received several hundred dollars back pension money, which he proceeded to spend. When it was all gone he told Erwin that he had given him $100, and if he could not pay it, wanted him to give a note for the amount. Erwin declared that he never got the money and bootled at the idea of giving a note. Rae brought suit for the amount, and in looking over the case Attorney McCoy had him bring up all his checks which had been returned from the bank. They footed up to within $100 of the amount of the pension money. After considerable searching the missing $100 check was found, but it was in the hands of a man named Irving, who lives near Cleo.
Rae remembered then that he had possibly given the check to him, and not to the man he sued.

Taught Him Something.
At dinner time yesterday a colored dishwasher named Phenix, at the Hotel Brunswick, slapped one of the dining room girls and followed that up with a string of abusive epithets. Landlord Curry heard the remarks and was giving the fellow some points on decency when he struck at Mr. Curry. That gentleman is ordinarily of a quiet temper and peaceable disposition, but becoming aroused at the darkey's conduct, took hold of him, threw him on a table and was choking him quite effectually. He cried out that he was being killed and called for help.
The cook thinking perhaps that was so took hold of Mr. Curry's arm to pull him off.
Mr. Curry's hand slipped down on to a butcher knife lying there, and was cut badly, a gash a quarter of an inch deep extending across the palm. The injury is not believed to be serious. The dishwasher was discharged.

Beating the Record.
Whether the record will be smashed out at the race track this week or not is a matter of doubt, but the enterprising fruit firm of G. W. Ehrhart & Co., are breaking all the records by the way they are handling the carloads of watermelons, bananas, oranges, lemons, potatoes, etc. They are selling watermelons and bananas way below the Chicago market. Mr. Ehrhart has been forethought enough to place his contracts early in the season, and they are supplying all the territory within a radius of 100 miles. They are also making a special drive on a choice early Ohio potato, which they are receiving from Kansas. Potatoes are very scarce this year, and prices will be higher.

In the Sewer.
A man named Matthews was filling the Broadway sewer excavation with a team and scraper, when one of the horses slipped into the ditch, and the other one walked around awhile on the animal in the excavation before the harness that held them could be cut. Both horses were gotten out unharmed, except that the under one was uninjured by the other's iron-shod hoofs.

Waived Examination.
James Phelps, arrested for forgery Tuesday night, was brought before Justice Curtis yesterday morning. He waived examination and was held in $500 bail to answer to the grand jury. He made no effort to furnish bond.

The Phonograph is now a recognized commercial success. The State Phonograph company of Illinois, which owns the right for this state to this truly wonderful invention, is now ready to fill all orders they may receive. George A. McClellan, the general agent of this company, arrived in the city yesterday, and at his rooms in the St.
Nicholas hotel he exhibited the perfect phonograph to the newspaper men, and such of the leading business men as called.
The exhibition was in a complete success. The phonograph is now simple, accurate and practical, and is fast being adopted for dictation all over the country. There is nothing about it to get out of order. It is easily understood and operated, and the reproduction of sounds is perfectly plain and distinct. The machines are not sold but are rented as telephones are. Already several of our business men are thinking of placing orders, for Decatur is always in the van when any new inventions are placed upon the market. Mr. Mc-Clellan will probably appoint a local agent and leave a machine with him here on exhibition.

STRAY SCRAPS.

The Tank line office will be closed this afternoon.

The stone work on Peter Loeb's new house is completed.

Ex-Fire Marshal Foster has received a judgment of $95.66 for balance due on salary in a suit against the city.

Nearly every store on the Levee will be closed this afternoon, so that the people may go to the races.

"Honest John" Cloyd the grocer, will be closed to-day after 1:30 and the boys will go to the races.

Business will be quite generally suspended to-day. Almost all the stores, offices and banks will be closed. Everybody is expected to go to the races.

Attendance at the normal has been increasing daily since the opening. About 90 pedagogues are now reviewing their studies there. The number is larger than at any previous normal.

Lemons have advanced in price until they are now from $8 to $13 a box. Forty cents a dozen is the best retail price. There is a scarcity of bananas in Decatur just at present.

George Johnson, a member of the firm of Scott, Johnson & Emery, at Clinton, was quite badly hurt Tuesday by the bursting of a polishing disc with which he was working.

A party of about 10 young people are organizing a camping party for next week.
They will
